British Expel 105 Russians; Defector Unveiled Spy Network

LONDON (AP) — A senior Soviet agent who defected in London and blew the lid off a Russian spy network in Britain touched off Friday the biggest mass expulsion of diplomats in modern times.

The British Foreign Office confirmed reports that the unnamed defector had disclosed documents concerning the network, and announced that as a result 105 Russians bearing diplomatic passports are being ordered to quit Britain.

This is almost 20 per cent of the Soviet Embassy's population of 550, which includes representatives of the Aeroflot airline, the Moscow Narodny Bank and trade delegations.

Ninety of those named must leave within two weeks. The other 15, now out of the country, will not be allowed to return to London.

None will be replaced, the Foreign Office emphasized. Informed quarters said the British intelligence forces were in contact with the American Central Intelligence Agency, indicating that the defector must have information affecting the United States.

The name of the defector and details of information he brought with him were withheld. There was no breakdown of how many of the expelled Russians were connected with the embassy directly or with the sister organizations such as the Narodny Bank, which has been financing trade here since the

Rogers, Gromyko Talk At Dinner

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Issues ranging from European security to superpower disarmament were on the list of topics Friday night in talks between Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet Union's veteran diplomat.

Sweetening the atmosphere for the dinner meeting at Rogers' Waldorf suite was White House announcement of U.S.-Soviet agreements on modernizing the Washington-Moscow hot line and avoiding nuclear war by accident.

But U.S. sources confirmed what was indicated by the cautious wording of a communique as U.S. and Soviet negotiators in Helsinki, Finland, recessed the strategic arms limitation talks until November.

The two sides are still some distance away from the proposed major agreement for a mutual curb on anti-ballistic missiles and offensive missiles. Rogers was encouraged too by the preliminary victory for the U.S.-backed two-Chinas proposal at the United Nations.

Borough Police Probing Juvenile Drug Use Case

A Warren juvenile was committed to juvenile detention early morning as the result of a tip received by Warren Borough Police Chief Bernard Winegardner. Dangerous drugs are allegedly involved, the chief said.

Winegardner stated that he received a telephone call at his home about 11:30 p.m. Thursday when a party said he knew of someone who had drugs and that he was able to get a sample. The caller agreed to meet the chief at the police station.

District Attorney William Morgan was contacted and Officers Dennis Schmader and Dean Shattuck were dispatched to the office of Justice of the Peace Raymond Gilmore to secure a search warrant.

Woolly Wiggler Welcomes Whimpering Winter

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Winter will wriggle in with a whimper this year according to the Pennsylvania woolly bear, the ubiquitous caterpillar that rivals the gopher for weather prediction.

Woolly bear reader Herbert B. Krone, retired Lancaster newsman, made his yearly woolly bear reading, saying this will be "the mildest winter since grandmother picked tomatoes for Christmas dinner."

Krone bases the prognostication on the color of the woolly bear caterpillars that are crawling over fields and roads—they're all blonde. If they were brown, winter would be medium hard; if black, then very rough.

"The caterpillars are as light in color as ash blondes coming from the hairdressers," Krone said. "That means winter will come in very slowly, with heat diminishing gradually day by day."

"But as with all blondes, those woolly bears are fickle. You can expect three snowstorms—only one of which will be serious in nature."

Senators Fencing Over Court Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic liberals are steering clear of the endorsement House civil rights leaders have given to Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., for the Supreme Court.

Remarks President Nixon made in Detroit Thursday night were interpreted as boosting Poff's prospects of being nominated to fill one of the two court vacancies created by the retirement of Justice Hugo L. Black and John Marshall Harlan.

But comments of Democratic senators like Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, George McGovern of South Dakota and Fred Harris of Oklahoma indicated Poff's selection could touch off a fight in the Senate.

Two earlier attempts by Nixon to place southern conservatives on the court, Judges Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., and G. Harrold Carswell, were rebuffed by the Senate.

However, his nominations of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun, both strict constitutional constructionists of the type favored by the President, were

Another N-Plant Set At Shippingport

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Duquesne Light Co. announced plans Friday for a $200 million, 847,000-kilowatt atomic power plant on the Ohio River at Shippingport, its second in that far western Pennsylvania community.

The plant, to be financed by a five-utility power pool, will be built alongside an almost identical complex already under construction, Duquesne said. Together, the utility said, the complexes will be known as Beaver Valley Power Stations One and Two.

confirmed by the Senate without opposition. Nixon said in Detroit that he is looking for justices with a judicial philosophy similar to Burger's and Blackmun's and he mentioned as possible nominees legislators "with great experience on the House and Senate Judiciary Committees."

Poff, 47, a 10-term member of the House and the second-ranking Republican on its Judiciary Committee, fits that description both counts. Regarded as a "law and order" conservative, he helped steer Nixon's crime control legislation through the House last year.

Hart, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, declined to say how he would vote on a Poff nomination, but he told a reporter Friday "it would be nice to think the President is seeking a man who has demonstrated devotion to the Bill of Rights."

Humphrey, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1968 and a leader in the passage of civil rights bills, also declined any direct comment on Poff.

But he said in an interview there is no room on the court for anyone "who, by deed or word, has exemplified any racism, any discrimination, or any support for segregation."

Harris, who announced Friday he is a presidential candidate, said he wished someone other than Nixon was going to fill the two vacancies on the court.

One unanswered question is whether Nixon will submit two nominations at the same time or wait to see how one fares before submitting a second.

A key southern senator reportedly felt the best strategy would be to send two nominations together, on the theory this would enhance the chances of a southerner being confirmed.

He was said to take the position that the Senate could not turn down a southern appointee while confirming one from another section without again being accused of discrimination against the South.

China Shaken: Internal Strife Or Political Reform?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
U.S. sources said Friday night that U.S. monitors had picked up Peking broadcasts to Red China's overseas missions recently calling for war preparedness.

Washington authorities, however, tended to discount the significance of the messages except in terms of the internal political struggle that apparently is underway on the Chinese mainland.

They said they know of no outside threat to Communist China at this time and that similar war preparedness messages have been circulating within the country.

Disclosure of the messages came as the Soviet news agency Tass said the general situation in Red China "is affected by a number of grave political developments" but gave no hint as to what they might be.

The newspaper Zycie Warszawy in Communist Poland viewed the struggle as meaning the role of Mao Tse-tung is diminishing while that of Premier Chou En-lai is increasing.

The Warsaw newspaper's expert on foreign affairs, Grzegorz Jaszunski wrote in support of his thesis.

"Mao's portraits and quotations from the little red book are being replaced by contemporary Chinese paintings, mostly landscapes, on which the only political accent is a red banner. According to unconfirmed reports, Mao's portrait has also been removed from the Chinese Great Wall."

An entirely different view was taken by Ambassador Folco Tralaza, Italy's ambassador to Peking, who was reached by telephone from Rome.

Tralaza confirmed that many posters of Mao had been taken down in Peking, but added: "Mao himself told Edgar Snow in a recent interview that he intended to redimension everything."

In an interview with the American author, Mao said he wanted to reduce everything

Harris Latest Presidential Hopeful

Sen. Fred Harris

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harris announced Friday his long-shot candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, saying seven years in the Senate have not given him the kind of national impact he wants.

"I intend to try to turn this country around before it's too late," the 40-year-old senator said. "... I believe that a president can call this country back to the greatness that is in us."

"I mean to try," Harris' wife, LaDonna, a member of the Comanche Indian tribe, sat with their three children as the senator formally announced a candidacy that already has taken him to 19 states during the past two months.

Entering a Democratic field that is certain to be crowded with candidates, Harris said he thinks Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is "way out front" at this point. But he said an overwhelming majority of Democrats have not yet decided who they want to be the nominee next year.

Harris said his campaign will not attract contributions from political money men because they consider it "too long a shot."

But he said he considers his chances of winning good, "or I wouldn't be running."

"I intend to go all the way," he said. Harris' candidacy had been taking shape since mid-summer. He announced on July 16 that he would not seek re-election to the Senate.

Harris said the early presidential primaries will be crucial. Harris said he will be a candidate in most of the primaries, but has not decided which ones he will enter after Florida, and before the June 6 balloting in California and New Mexico. He has settled on those three states as key targets, and already has made three campaign trips into each of them.

The Oklahoma senator, a former Democratic national chairman, said he doesn't know whether he will enter the leadoff primary in New Hampshire March 7. He said his present inclination is to stay out of a race that is likely to be dominated by Muskie of adjacent Maine.

Harris said he will sound out his own prospects there during a campaign trip beginning Oct. 5.

Harris described himself as a new populist, and defined the goals of that viewpoint in these terms: "We can have a better distribution of income. We can have a better distribution of power. We can have a return to idealism in foreign policy.

Armed with the warrant, which was served at about 12:30 or 1 a.m. Friday, Schmader, Shattuck and Officer Greg Munksgard went to the residence of the juvenile. The chief said in searching the boy's room, police removed two Band-Aid containers from above a ceiling panel. One contained 54 tablets, the other 48 capsules.

Winegardner said the youth refused to account for the 54 tablets but claimed he purchased the capsules. The chief performed a field test on the drugs and at 10 a.m. Friday, Sgt. Willard Zerbe and Munksgard went to the new crime lab in Erie to have the tablets and capsules analyzed.

Preliminary testing indicated the pills were dangerous drugs but a complete analysis will be forthcoming from Erie.

"I mean to give people a voice through the campaign itself," Harris said. "A campaign itself can give power to the powerless. I mean to do that."

Harris' announcement made him the second declared Democratic candidate. Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., formally entered the contest nearly nine months ago.

Muskie has not yet announced his candidacy, but he has been campaigning all year. Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas are among other potential entries.

Harris has written two books, the most recent, "The Time is Now," spelling out last April the effort to develop a "new populist coalition" which now is the basis of his presidential bid.

Essentially it is an appeal to the disadvantaged to get together, forget racial, sectional, age differences, and form an effective new political force.

And marching at the head of such a coalition would be Fred R. Harris.

Army Urges Quick Adoption Of Draft Bill, But Rejects Prior-Service Vet Enlistments

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird was warning Congress of a serious military manpower crisis unless the draft was renewed, the Army was telling its recruiters to turn away veterans wanting to re-enlist.

"... current re-enlistments of individuals on active duty are sufficient to maintain the career-content of the Army under its reduced structure. Thus, there is no present need for the enlistment of prior service personnel from the civilian community."

These were the instructions in a Sept. 14 letter from Maj. Gen. A. H. Smith of the Army's personnel office.

Four days earlier, Laird wrote Senate Armed Services Committee Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., urging immediate passage of the draft bill "in the interest of national security."

Laird said the readiness of the Army would be affected beginning in January by a shortage of trained men who could be assigned to units.

The bill renewing the draft for two years was approved in the Senate Tuesday and is awaiting President Nixon's signature.

"There may be some seeming inconsistencies," Pentagon spokesman Daniel Z. Henkin conceded Friday, "as manpower needs of the Army and the other services are realigned in light of continuing withdrawals from Vietnam and manpower reductions directed by Congress."

He added, "as we've said, we need the draft to bring in new men and we also need to take actions to improve the over-all caliber of the armed forces while at the same time they are being reduced by more than a million men."

The Army is budgeted to shrink to 892,000 men by June, down from its 1968 Vietnam war peak of 1.5 million.

Henkin said Laird, who has been pushing the administration's effort to find jobs for returning Vietnam veterans, was unaware of the recruiting order. There are currently, 310,000 Vietnam-era veterans between the ages of 20 to 29 unemployed, according to the Labor Department. As a group they have the second highest rate of unemployment, 8.2 per cent compared to the national rate of about 6 per cent.

Gen. Smith's Sept. 14 order applies only to veterans wanting to come back into the service and not to young men signing up for the first time. The Army figures it will need 20,000 new men a month if it is to end reliance on the draft and become an all-volunteer force by mid-1973.

But it would seem the Army would prefer taking new veterans since they are already trained and the expense of training new men could thus be saved. This would be in keeping with arguments favoring an all-volunteer force which, proponents contend, would reduce personnel turnover by keeping men in service longer and thereby cut training costs.

"We still need people, there's no question about that," an Army spokesman said. "But we need enlistees for the combat arms otherwise we'll be top-heavy with sergeants and no privates."

U.S., Russians To Improve Hot Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to improve the Moscow-Washington hot line as part of accords designed to cut the risk of nuclear war breaking out accidentally between the two superpowers.

Two agreements are involved, according to statements released by President Nixon and the State Department Friday, and break down into these main areas:

"A pledge by both sides to take the steps each considers necessary to guard against accidental or unauthorized use of nuclear weapons."

"Arrangements for rapid communication should a danger of nuclear war arise from such nuclear incidents or from detection of unidentified objects on early warning systems."

"Advance notification of certain planned missile launches."

"The improvement and modernization of the Washington-Moscow direct communications link, or 'Hot Line,' which was established in 1963."

The hot line agreement, which was worked out as a separate accord from those dealing more directly with accidental nuclear war, involves technology developed since the original communications link was established.

According to the President's announcement, "Two satellite circuits will be established, one by each side, as well as multiple terminals to increase reliability of the link."

"The Soviet Union will provide a circuit through a satellite system of its own and the United States will arrange for a channel through Intelsat."

The satellite link will replace the current hot line, which has been used only once, during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, and depends on sea and underground cables. Officials said the new system will be faster and will overcome the possibility of a communications interruption through a break in the cables.

The agreements go into effect next Thursday when they will be signed by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in ceremonies at the State Department. Since they are not treaties they do not require Senate ratification.

Concerned Soviets Asking Questions About China

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union, in its first comment on the current situation in Communist China, told its people Friday that Peking was troubled by "a number of grave internal political developments" which Chinese leaders were trying to keep secret from the world.

A report by Tass, the Soviet news agency, which was broadcast over Soviet radio and television Friday, disclosed Moscow's view that China is in the grip of behind-the-scenes political maneuvering. A news item of such importance would not be issued unless it reflected the assessment of high Soviet officials.

The Tass dispatch, datelined Moscow and carrying the flavor of a commentary rather than a news report, accused the Peking leadership of "seeking to extricate itself from the tangle of internal difficulties by fanning another anti-Soviet hysteria" through alleged charges that China was endangered by Soviet forces.

The Tass dispatch called the cancellation of the Oct. 1 mass celebrations of the Chinese Revolution "rather unusual" and was openly skeptical of the Chinese explanation that this was part of a deliberate reform.

The dispatch gave no details on the "grave political developments" in Peking. But at least one Soviet insider reportedly commented to a foreign newsmen yesterday that a confidential report from Tass in Peking, circulated only to high Soviet officials and news editors, had reported that Chairman Mao Tse-Tung had suffered a heart attack.

It was impossible to confirm whether such information had actually been relayed to Moscow from Soviets in Peking or, rather, represented an embellishment of earlier western press speculation on Mao's possible death.

Ever since the western press reports broke four days ago about the parade cancellation and Mao's health, Soviet officials and newsmen have shown great curiosity about events in Peking in discussions with foreign newsmen and diplomats.

They have questioned foreigners closely but Soviet officials themselves have revealed no direct knowledge of the situation. "Those who may know aren't saying anything," commented one western diplomat, "and those who don't are asking questions."

Tass said Chinese circles were quoted in foreign press reports as saying that the Oct. 1 parade had been called off because of "the alleged threat on Chinese territory is allegedly planned and therefore it is impossible to celebrate national day as usual."

Tass charged that this "anti-Soviet" campaign was not matched "by an intensified anti-imperialist propaganda" but that on the contrary "slogans on 'U.S. Imperialism' have become much smaller in number."

The Chinese leadership, Tass said, "is trying to shift the blame for the difficulties in the country onto external factors—the imaginary threat from the Soviet Union—and thus distract the attention of the Chinese people from acute domestic political problems."

China

built on his name, keeping only the title of "great educator."

To back his suggestion that the star of Chou En-lai was rising, Jazunski wrote: "The political role of Chiang Ching, Mao's wife, is now practically over. The Chinese press also mentions very seldom the name of Marshal Lin Biao, who was officially proclaimed Mao's successor."

"Instead, the role of Premier Chou En-lai is on the increase. He is the most pragmatic Chinese politician. It was he who conducted talks with Nixon's representative and conveyed the invitation to Peking for the President."

China watchers in Japan said on the contrary that the removal of Mao's pictures might indicate his leadership has been stabilized and the "personality cult" was no longer needed. Mao used his portraits, badges and statues in his "cultural revolution" in the late 1960s, the fight that overthrew his opponents led by President Liu Shao-chi.

Tass declared that "as it has already occurred more than once, the Peking leadership is seeking to extricate itself from the tangle of internal difficulties by fanning another anti-Soviet hysteria."

U.S. Wins Initial U.N. Move On China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States won another test Friday on its two-Chinas plan, but the vote in the U.N. General Assembly appeared to indicate trouble ahead.

The test was on an Albanian move to bar inscription on the agenda of an item intended as a vehicle for the so-called "dual representation" formula to seat Red China while permitting the Chinese Nationalists to remain.

The United States won by a vote of 65 to 47 with 15 abstaining. This was a substantial margin by normal U.N. standards, but actually it was unusually close for a procedural question of putting an item on the agenda of the assembly.

After the vote U.S. Ambassador George Bush said he was "tremendously pleased," but he added that "we are not taking anything for granted."

An analysis of the roll call and the statements made by a number of delegates in the 130-nation assembly made it clear that many of them who voted for the U.S. item were opponents or potential opponents of the two-Chinas plan.

The mood of the assembly was reflected in part by the fact that no member asked for a recorded vote on the question of inscribing a rival item—backed by Albania and 17 other countries—which would give Peking its "lawful rights" by expelling the Taiwan delegation.

The inscription of the China items on the agenda was the final action scheduled in the 21-year-old controversy until the main debate begins around mid-October. Many delegates, however, are expected to state their positions during the round of policy declarations which will occupy the assembly for the next three weeks.

Price Freeze Has Little Effect On Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are producing so much this year that the agricultural exemption from the Nixon administration's price freeze is making little difference in their pocketbooks.

And while an Associated Press survey shows farmers and their organizations generally support President Nixon's new economic moves, serious reservations exist on how the wage-price freeze may force food processors to react.

Another worry is that the administration's 10 per cent surcharge on imports may invite retaliation from such leading overseas buyers of U.S. agricultural products as Japan and the

By MRS. RAY WELLS

Mr. and Mrs. Merl Sexton of Union City were Saturday afternoon callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin.

Mrs. Helen Johnson visited her uncle, Frank Lutton of Erie Tuesday.

The R.F.M. Adult Sunday School Class of United Methodist Church met at the church Saturday evening for a pot luck dinner with 21 members attending. The Rev. Howard Markel gave table grace. Alan Baker presided at the business meeting and Mrs. Walter Chase had devotions. Miss Margaret Clark will have charge of devotions at the next meeting Nov. 13 at the church.

A reception for the Rev. Howard Markel, pastor of United Methodist Church and his family will be held Sunday, Sept. 26 at 1 p.m. at the church. Each family is to bring tureen and table service. Rolls and beverage will be furnished.

Prayer and Bible study is being conducted by the Rev. Howard Markel at the church Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. All age groups are invited to attend.

Common Market nations. The harvest from one of every four U.S. crop acres goes abroad this year.

But farmers like the new policies because they believe they will help control the rising cost of farm production that has offset much of the increase in farm productivity in recent years.

Agricultural products, as long as they walk or are sold in their natural shape, are not affected by the price freeze.

So a steak or roast in a store must be sold at the price covered by the freeze, but the steer it came from, exempted as a raw farm product, is free to soar or drop to rock bottom in price.

No drastic fluctuations have occurred in livestock. Fattened cattle are selling in major markets at prices higher than a year ago. Hogs, although recovering somewhat from the major market slump of last winter, still are behind last year's prices.

But the administration may as well have set a ceiling on prices for farmers who produce poultry, dairy products and grain, including corn and other feed for livestock. Their huge production increase has sent many prices tumbling.

Predicted corn output this year is a record 5.1 billion bushels, up more than one-fourth from last year. For wheat, it's 1.6 billion bushels, far more than the nation can consume or export this winter.

Total crop production for 1971 is expected to be 11 per cent higher than last year when drought and pests cut deeply into many crops.

Agricultural Department price figures reflect the production leap. Wheat averaged $1.28 a bushel in August, almost 20 cents less than last June. Corn brought $1.19 last month, compared with $1.43 in June.

The concern about how farm processors might react to the price freeze stems from fears they might attempt to beat down prices paid to farmers in order to widen profit margins, according to Harold F. Ohlendorf, president of the Arkansas Farm Bureau.

But he says there's no justification for the concern.

The Agriculture Department says it has no knowledge of any processors' move toward pushing down prices.

Route 6 Crash Injures Youth

A Union City youth remained in serious condition in the intensive care unit at St. Vincent Hospital in Erie following a three-vehicle collision at 8:40 p.m. last night on Rt. 6 west of Corry.

According to Trooper Richard Deutsch, Kenneth H. Shreve, 17, was taken to the hospital with extensive head injuries and other unknown injuries after he pulled from behind a truck on the crest of a hill and crashed head-on into the vehicle driven by Gilbert Sorensen, 23, of Corry. Sorensen was treated and released from Corry Hospital. The driver of the truck, James Beeman, 21, of Union City, escaped injury when his vehicle also was struck by the Shreve vehicle.

Sen. Jackson Says Economy A Disaster

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Unannounced presidential hopeful Sen. Henry M. Jackson declared Friday that the nation's economy "is a man-made disaster that should have the same treatment as a natural disaster," and said one remedy would be a Democratic president in 1972.

"The Republicans can't understand what the people need and want," Jackson told a luncheon gathering of Allegheny County Democrats. "Just now the President is trying to peck away at the job situation, but it's too little, too late."

Jackson said the Democratic party must restore leadership to the "great majority," and end the "great American tragedy of not enough jobs for people who want to work."

The Washington Democrat said the answer to the problem of unemployment is a program of voluntary import quotas worked out with America's allies.

"If I were President, I would use these next two or three months to negotiate quietly but firmly with all our major trading partners—Japan, the Common Market, Great Britain, Scandinavia, and the others to make our position clear," he said.

"Then, after the first of the year, I would call for an economic summit meeting to iron out all our economic differences," he continued, "not trade alone, but balance of payments and monetary guidelines as well."

Jackson's stop in Pittsburgh was part of a three-day Pennsylvania tour which was to conclude Saturday with a meeting in Harrisburg with Gov. Milton Shapp and a stop in Philadelphia later in the day.

Prior to addressing the Democratic luncheon, Jackson told newsmen he has not firmly decided whether to seek the Democratic presidential nomination, but hinted he is leaning toward running.

"I'm encouraged with the meetings I've had thus far with Democratic leaders around the country," he said, "particularly in those states that are important primary states such as Florida, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and others."

Warren Council Meets Monday

Warren borough council meets in adjourned session at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 27 to consider several matters.

Listed on the agenda is a resolution establishing rules and regulations for the Warren fire department and an ordinance adopting collective bargaining contract with the fire fighters.

Another ordinance to be reviewed deals with adopting a collective bargaining contract with the Borough Employees Association. Council will also discuss a resolution in regard to a contract with the planning consultants.

Officers' Election

Officers will be elected and special projects will be discussed at the first meeting Monday, Sept. 27, at 6:30 p.m. of the Warren County Chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children.

The meeting at Jefferson School will be preceded by a tureen dinner. Meat, rolls and beverage will be furnished. Those attending are to bring a tureen and table service.

All parents and professional people interested in children with special needs are invited to attend the dinner and to become members of the CEC.

County's Teachers Will Meet Monday

Members of the Warren County Teachers Assn. will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 28 at Beatty Auditorium for a general business meeting, according to Jon Carlson, president.

New Ford Engine Satisfies Federal Pollution Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency announced Friday that its 1976 antipollution standards have been achieved for the first time by an experimental auto engine, proving at least that the standards can be met.

Both EPA and the Ford Motor Co., the engine's developer, agreed the experimental engine is far from commercial production.

But EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus said the test showed "that the truly clean car is not as far away as many people thought."

Another high-ranking EPA official said privately the Ruckelshaus statement should counterbalance more pessimistic industry views in the public mind and encourage public demand for early development of the clean engine.

He said Ford officials indicated a passenger car version of the experimental engine might be ready "maybe by 1977."

"I don't like the word 'pressure,'" this official said, "but we have to make sure the companies are operating in a political and social context that makes them be responsive to all these responsibilities ..."

"We want to make sure the public attitude will not be wholly formed by the pessimism and guardedness of the manufacturer."

President Nixon mentioned Thursday night in Detroit that the Ruckelshaus statement was coming, and a Ford spokesman said Friday the company was "upset" at the publicity for its new engine.

He said the engine, handmade and operated by skilled technicians, still had a tendency to break down after 5,000 or 6,000 miles and there was no assurance yet that versions suitable for passenger cars could be successfully mass-produced.

A report by EPA technicians agreed.

Last June 30, the EPA adopted standards requiring a 90 per cent reduction in auto engine emissions of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons by 1975 and of nitrogen oxides by 1976.

Since 1962, the Army Tank-Automotive Command had been funding research of five different engine designs based on the "stratified charge" principle. Such engines mix fuel with air inside their combustion cylinders, instead of mixing them in an outside carburetor as in the conventional engine.

Engines offered by Ford and by Texaco, Inc., were selected in 1967 for further development.

The Army was looking for an engine that could run on a wide variety of fuels, but EPA's ancestor-agencies got interested in 1969 after tests indicated the "stratified charge" engine could reduce pollution.

EPA contributed $57,000 to the research in fiscal 1969, $50,000 the next year, and $200,000 in fiscal 1971—fully one-third of the 1971 program cost.

Warren Man Wins Citations For Vietnam Combat Action

SP-5 Timothy Murphy

In The Armed Forces

Navy Lt. Craig M. Forsgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Forsgren, 324 Prospect st., participated in a Naval Air reserve training cruise with Anti-Submarine Squadron 71 aboard the aircraft carrier USS Wasp off the east coast. His unit is based at Lakehurst naval air station.

Army Sgt. Lawrence W. Baxter, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard C. Baxter, recently spent a month at the Grafenwohr major training area in Germany participating in the 56th artillery brigade's quarterly field training exercise. Baxter is regularly stationed near Kornwestheim as a team leader in Co. A of the 4th Infantry's 2nd Battalion.

A 1967 graduate of Warren Area High School, Sgt. Baxter entered the Army in July 1970.

A Warren man has been awarded three citations for his service with the U.S. Army in the Republic of Vietnam.

SP-5 Timothy Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Murphy, 604 Market st., now on a tour of duty in Germany, has received the Army Commendation medal, the Army Commendation Medal (Second Oak Leaf Cluster) and the Air Medal.

The Second Oak Leaf Cluster cited Murphy for heroism in Vietnam on July 4, 1970 when he and others in the 191st Aviation Company (Assault Helicopter) distinguished themselves supporting three friendly outposts which were under heavy enemy attack. Upon arriving over the area, their aircraft began receiving intense automatic weapons fire and these men, for four hours, unleashed a barrage of suppressive fire providing cover for all ships in their flight.

The Army Commendation Medal was for meritorious achievement during the period February 1970 to April 1970 when, according to the citation, Murphy astutely surmounted extremely adverse conditions to obtain consistently superior results.

In October 1969, Murphy, then a specialist four, was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flight. He actively participated in more than 25 aerial missions over hostile territory.

Murphy is a 1968 graduate of Warren Area High School.

SUNDOWNERS LEAVE FOR CANADA

Members of the Sundowners Jr. Drum and Bugle Corps left last night for St. Catharines, Canada where they will march this afternoon in the grape Festival parade. The corps is sponsored by the Kossuth Encampment of the International Order of Odd Fellows. They display here the Canadian flag they received there several years ago. The City of St. Catharines will present a new flag for the parade. Over 350,000 persons are expected to view the parade. (Photo by Lester)

Former Governor Shafer's Chances Of Obtaining Judgeship Dimming

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Despite continued pressure from political and lawyer friends, former Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania appears to have little chance of being nominated by President Nixon to the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

One friend says "it would take a political miracle and a battle with the legal profession to put him across."

Informed sources disclose Shafer, currently chairman of the President's Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse, was found "not qualified" by the American Bar Association's Judiciary Committee. Without such approval the Justice Department policy is not to recommend that the President make the appointment.

"A nominee for such a high judicial post, next in importance to the Supreme Court, should either have a lot of trial experience or be a distinguished legal scholar and Shafer doesn't qualify on either of those two vital points," one source says.

Shafer, a Republican, ended his four years as Pennsylvania's governor in January, under attack by both major parties for leaving the state in a fiscal mess. He had sought to wipe out a $250 million deficit by proposing the state's first income tax which the legislature finally adopted last month.

Shafer's name for the judgeship was submitted in the spring by the state's two Republican senators, Minority Leader Hugh Scott and Richard Schweiker, to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Abraham L. Freedman.

Shafer has pursued the nomination hard, twisting the arms of old political associates and lawyer acquaintances in the Pennsylvania Bar to write letters on his behalf to the Judiciary Committee headed by Lawrence E. Walsh of New York. The pressure apparently hasn't changed any opinions.

Shafer met privately with Walsh recently, but neither man would comment on the outcome. However, a member of the Bar group says the situation remained unchanged: that Shafer was not qualified.

What is killing Shafer's chances most is his lack of trial experience. It is almost two decades since he argued a case in a courtroom, back in the early 1950s when he was district attorney of Crawford County.

And his only classroom experience was a brief stint in business law at Allegheny College, after World War II, in his home town of Meadville.

"It would take some brand new element, not now visible, to change the opinion of the Bar committee, and that doesn't appear likely," a source close to the situation says. "In my opinion, Shafer is a dead duck."

But in politics nothing is certain and Shafer might be able to turn around if his chief sponsor desired to make a fight of it.

"Shafer doesn't have the political clout since he is out of office," the source says. "The question is whether Scott wants to make the appointment of Shafer an issue in the twilight of his career. Frankly, I don't think Scott wants to battle the bar over it."

Shafer wasn't exactly a Nixon favorite. He opposed Nixon for the Republican nomination for president in 1968, supporting instead Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

But, apparently, Shafer has been able to patch up their differences — considering his appointment to the drug commission — and with a re-election battle in the offing next year it is reported Nixon wants to keep the Rockefeller camp in line by giving good jobs to some of his people.

Youngsville Kiwanis Aids Stricken Girl

All profits from advance sales of tickets for the Youngsville Kiwanis Club Saturday, Oct. 9, are to be donated to 11-year-old Sue Perrin.

Sue, daughter of the late Jerry Perrin and Mrs. Isabelle Perrin, RD2, Pittsfield, was to have undergone a kidney transplant operation Tuesday at Roswell Memorial Hospital, Buffalo, N.Y. However, because of a setback in the girl's condition, surgery was postponed until Thursday.

As of Friday afternoon, according to Mrs. Carl Sliter, a relative of Sue, the young lady was "doing well." An older brother, 20-year-old Danny, donated the kidney to his sister.

The Pittsfield elementary school nurse drew attention of Youngsville Kiwanis Club to Sue's plight. Members immediately made a cash donation and devised the plan to donate profits from chicken barbecue advance sales.

All members of the club will have tickets available, including Guy McCloskey, 544 East Main st., Youngsville, 563-7633 and Gurney Ball, 140 Marsh ave., 563-9949. They will also be available at Lind's Service Station, Youngsville; Youngsville branch, Warren National Bank and Jackson's Motor Sales, Youngsville.

Key Club members will also have tickets and may be contacted through Youngsville High School.

The barbecue will be held at Jackson's Motor Pavilion, west of Youngsville on Route 6. Owner Don Jackson is president of Kiwanis Club.

An appeal was also made earlier this week for cash or grocery donations to help relieve the financial strain of the fatherless home. Contributions may be sent to: Harold Williams, Garland fire chief, Garland; Office of Economic Opportunity, 225 Pennsylvania ave. west, Warren or the Rouse Home, Youngsville, director of nurses or supervisor.

Scots Pace PCAC Rush Statistics

SLIPPERY ROCK —The Pennsylvania Conference Western Division football teams are all slated for non-league action again this weekend. It will be the final preparation for four Western Division schools which will begin PC divisional action on October 2.

Edinboro, Clarion and Slippery Rock, rated the top three teams in most pre-season polls, all scored impressive victories to open the season Saturday, while Lock Haven opened some eyes with an upset win over Delaware State.

Indiana, not eligible for the conference championship, bettered its card to 2-0 with a shutout victory over California. Shippensburg also suffered a whitewashing at the hands of Millersville.

In the Eastern Division, meanwhile, favored West Chester and rival East Stroudsburg opened with wins. An important league battle shapes up this week in the East when darkhorse Millersville hosts Kutztown.

Western Division action this Saturday has Edinboro at home against the Eureka College 11 from Illinois, Clarion at Southern Connecticut, Slippery Rock on the road at Geneva, Shippensburg at home with Brockport, California at Wittenberg, Lock Haven hosting Bloomsburg and Indiana entertaining Cortland.

Edinboro had trouble getting started Saturday at Waynesburg, leading by only 7-3 at the half, but once the Scots got Al Raines and Joe Sanford loose, the game quickly turned around. Bill McDonald's team won going away 34-10.

Raines and Sanford each boasted 91 yard touchdown runs as the Edinboro club set a single game rushing record with 549 yards and a new total offense mark with 605 yards.

Newsman Swims Isle Of Wight

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — An English journalist, Kevin Murphy, 22, became the first man to swim around the Isle of Wight, the resort island off England's Southern Coast, Friday.

NFL ROUNDUP

49ers Out To Test Manning

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The National Football League came through its first weekend relatively unscathed—except for a lot of injured pride—and a number of teams, particularly San Francisco and Los Angeles, will be out to save their wounds with big victories.

But several others, especially New Orleans and Atlanta, will be trying to prove that their inaugural upsets were anything but accidents.

The 49ers, rocked by Atlanta as they opened the defense of their championship in the National Conference's Western Division, invade New Orleans to test Saints quarterback Archie Manning.

And the Rams, stunned by Manning's last-play, game-winning touchdown, will be lying in wait for the Falcons, who have failed to beat them in nine previous attempts.

New England and San Diego will also be out to show that their first-game triumphs were anything but surprises. But they'll have rough going as the Patriots try to crack Detroit's defense and the Chargers oppose Oakland.

Sunday's other games have Cleveland at Baltimore, Chicago at Minnesota, Dallas at Philadelphia, Cincinnati at Pittsburgh, Miami at Buffalo, Kansas City at Houston, Denver at Green Bay and Washington facing the Giants at New York.

Monday night's nationally televised affair (ABC, 9 p.m., EDT) sends the New York Jets to St. Louis, Sunday's Oakland-San Diego clash will be televised to most of the nation (NBC, 4 p.m., EDT).

If Manning can carry the Saints past San Francisco, it will assure New Orleans of consideration as a serious title threat. But John Brodie, who clicked for 225 yards against the Falcons, will be out to avoid a repeat of his four interceptions that wrecked the 49ers.

The Falcons likewise will cast themselves as contenders by beating the Rams and Bob Berry can be expected to stick to his short passing game that picked apart San Francisco.

The Rams, however, will probably be keying on rookie wide receiver Ken Burrow. Roman Gabriel, meanwhile, has to improve his 11-for-30 completion record of last Sunday.

Jim Plunkett of the Patriots received perfect protection against Oakland while the line opened gaping holes for runners Carl Garrett and Bob Gladieux—but Detroit poses a more formidable defense, which held thundering Minnesota to only 43 yards on the ground.

The Chargers displayed a new three-receiver attack that gave John Hadl 260 aerial yards last Sunday and more than made up for the departure of Lance Alworth. The Raiders will have to regroup their disheveled attack behind Daryle Lamonica and George Blanda.

It's not likely that Norm Bulaich of the Colts will be able to match his 198 rushing yards of last Sunday. The Browns, in beating Houston, limited the entire Oilers ground game to 35 yards.

Gale Sayers of the Bears is expected to test his churning legs against the Vikings' solid defensive wall but whether Jack Concannon or Kent Nix is the quarterback that gives him the ball hasn't been decided. Gary Cuozzo will again start for Minnesota.

Dallas piled up 371 yards last Sunday in a tough victory over Buffalo and the Cowboys are looking forward to even more against the Eagles, who gave up 532 to Cincinnati.

The Bengals will try to run roughshod over the Steelers, who may be without their No. 1 ground gainer, John Fuqua. But Terry Bradshaw could have a field day against Cincinnati's porous pass defense.

Dennis Shaw was the sole show as he passed the Bills to 353 yards against the Cowboys. But Buffalo's defense was all but absent. It'll have to be more than just present and accounted for against the Dolphins' Bob Griese-to-Paul Warfield combination.

Neither Charlie Johnson nor Lynn Dickey could sustain the Oilers' attack last Sunday and the Houston pass defense left much to be desired, which is what quarterback Len Dawson and the rest of the Chiefs are counting on as they try to rebound from their loss to the Chargers.

Coach Dan Devine's left leg was fractured last Sunday but what broke Green Bay's back was a pair of fumbles in their own end zone against the Giants. The Packers will be out to muzzle former teammate Don Horn, starting passer for the

Ike Gears For Hungry Panthers

Pine Valley's Paters sink their teeth into the Valley Conference for the first time in five years this afternoon when they greet an old foe—Eisenhower High—in South Dayton.

Whether the Knights are delectable to Panther taste depends on how well-prepared

Four Players

To Visit GIs

NEW YORK (AP) — Four major league baseball players will make a 17-day tour throughout the Pacific area, visiting U.S. servicemen at military hospitals this fall.

Making the trip, scheduled to begin shortly after the World Series, are Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Graig Nettles of Cleveland, Danny Frisella of the New York Mets and Dave Roberts of San Diego. For the sixth straight year, Arthur Richman, promotion director of the Mets, heads the group which will visit Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines, Guam and Hawaii.

The tour is sponsored by the Defense Dept. and USO in cooperation with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office.

the Panthers are for the catch. Last Saturday afternoon the Cuba, N.Y. Greyhounds made mince-meat of the Pine Valley defense in scoring 27 points, while the Panther offense milled around in a failure to score a point.

Coach Tom Firth's men, who run out of a wing-I formation, are still picking their teeth from last weekend's seven-course dinner—Clymer's Pirates. Carving the Pirates into wafer-thin pieces were backs Curt Carlson, Bob Thelin and Mike Luvison.

Luvison, the surprise speedster, is deadly deceptive on sprint-out keepers. Against Clymer he picked up 75 yards in just 10 carries, while the mainstay of the Knight charge—Curt Carlson—rolled over 80 yards.

On paper, the Panthers appear to have a promising team, 13 lettermen return to Coach Bob Brown's flock, which finished second in the Vine League with a 6-2 record. All Seneca fullback Gary Waterman is the most prized possession in Brown's backfield and he, as the coaches states, is a grind-them-out runner.

Dick Kickbush, a 210-lb tackle, and 147-lb end Jack Condon are back with their all-star honors from the Vine League.

The only unsure aspect in Brown's lineup is at quarterback. Junior varsity grad Jerry Moore gave it a whirl last week in the Cuba game, but his failure to get the ball in motion may force the back-up men—Keith Brown and Dean Brown—to step in.

Brown has left to his credit on the line, buoyed by a few 200-lb cruisers. His 1971 season still remains in his quarterback, and if he expects to make a progress sheet, the problem must be alleviated this afternoon, or the dinner tab will be picked up by the obliging Knights.

Answers will be revealed this afternoon at 1:30 p.m. on the Pine Valley High School Field.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As I write this letter I have the feeling I am speaking for thousands of others who are in the same boat. I'm male, approaching 40, been married about 17 years. We have three children, a paid-for home, middle-income bracket, well-entrenched in a career. Problem: The wife.

I look back at our romance. I was 21. She was 20, pretty, slender (117 pounds), happy to get in the car and go for a drive anywhere. Loved to walk. Enjoyed swimming, biking. Everything was fun. Today she weighs 150 at least. Won't walk anyplace. Hasn't been on a bike or in a swim suit in 10 years. Car riding makes her sick. Screams at the kids incessantly. Has gone on 10 diets and can't stay with it.

Her life is wrapped around her card club, her telephone yapping, girl friends, clothes and the hairdresser. She doesn't care for cooking and I'm tired of talking about it so we settle for hamburgers and French fries which she asks me to pick up at the drive-in on my way home.

When I hear her on the phone gossiping about the latest divorce, I wonder what she'd say if she knew I had considered it many times. Too bad these women don't see the trouble until it's too late. Sign me—Your Husband.

DEAR HUSBAND: Here's your letter, but don't expect the wife to recognize herself. Why not slip this column in the bag the next time she asks you to bring home some hamburgers from the drive-in? Let it be her dessert.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I see so many things wrong with the way my son's wife is raising her children that it makes me miserable. Today's mothers are so puffed up with psychology and book-learned nonsense that they make dreadful mistakes. When we were kids if we said a dirty word we caught it right in the mouth. Now our grandchildren blurt out disgusting things and my daughter-in-law says, "We don't use that word," and she just changes the subject. I wrote about this problem last year and you told me to keep quiet unless I was asked. Maybe when you have grandchildren of your own you'll change your mind. Please let me know. —Ulica L.

DEAR U.L.: I HAVE grandchildren, the same ones I had last year and my advice is the same. Keep quiet unless asked. Most authorities believe kids use dirty words as an attention-getting device. They want a reaction. Your daughter-in-law's approach is a good one. Let her alone.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In the last few months you have printed several letters from women who have lost babies. They have written to tell you some of the thoughtless and hurtful things people have said to them.

Last year we lost our first baby in my sixth month of pregnancy. The doctor said it was a blessing because the baby was deformed. I am pregnant again and understandably I am apprehensive. You can't believe the number of people who have gone out of their way to say, "I hope this one is all right."

Don't these fools realize this is what is on MY mind night and day? Why must they bring it up? I know they mean well, but it's so stupid. Print my letter please and tell me, if you can, why people are like this? —Michigan City

DEAR M.C.: Your answer is in your letter. They mean well but they're stupid. Thanks for writing and good luck to you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please rescue at least a million Mid-westerners who are hopelessly trapped by a larcenous gimmick called "bridal showers?"

The moment an engagement is announced the mothers start booking these ghastly parties. Some women find themselves on three or four lists. A turnout does not nullify the obligation to buy a gift. If you are unable to attend the shower, you are expected to send a gift anyway. These days it is impossible to buy anything decent for less than $10. And please be aware that a shower gift has nothing whatever to do with the wedding gift. That's separate.

The record for grabby mothers was set by a woman in our group who is considered well bred by all standards. She boasted that her daughter's shower loot amounted to well over $2,000 in usable goods. The wedding gifts, she estimated, will come to at least three times that amount. Help—Party Pooped And Broke.

DEAR P.P. AND B.: What makes you think bridal showers are regional? It's a Coast-to-Coast affliction.

Here are Ann Landers' ground rules based strictly on common sense:

Only one shower should be given—preferably a jointly sponsored luncheon by all the bridesmaids. It should be a kitchen shower or a bathroom shower—with a limit on what can be spent for a gift. Tops—$3.

Pre-nuptial parties are usually a bore, and a waste of time, money and energy. The wise bride nixes them.

Two new members were initiated into Zonta Club of Warren at a dinner meeting on Thursday, September 23, at the Blue Manor Restaurant. Mrs. Helena Iseman, vice president, conducted the ceremony for Miss Olive Bostrom, Registered Occupational Therapist and head of the department at Warren State Hospital, and Mrs. Rachel Miller, accountant with her own office in the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co. building.

Zontians are women who are respected leaders in their professions or active on an executive level in business. Membership is by invitation only, and is limited to one member from each business or professional classification in the community.

Committee chairmen for 1971-72 were announced as follows: Program, Miss Ursula Johnson; Membership, Miss Mary Topper; Finance, Miss Betty Currie; Status of Women, Miss Johnson; Public Relations and Public Affairs, Mrs. Iseman; Fellowship and Attendance, Mrs. Bertha Christensen; Inter-City and International Relations, Mrs. Jenny Book; Scholarship, Miss Elverda Fagley; Service, Mrs. Alice Russell; March of Dimes, Mrs. Virginia Hohman and Mrs. Alberta Jackson, co-chairmen. Mrs. Mary Dahl, secretary, was in charge of dinner arrangements.

Women To Hear Missionary

REV. MATTSON

The monthly meeting of St. John's Lutheran Church Women will host similar groups from First Lutheran Church and St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Monday, September 27, at 8 p.m. Speaker will be the Rev. Walter Mattson, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church, Bradford, Pa., and former missionary to Japan.

Pastor Mattson, who served 10 years in Japan as a representative of the Lutheran Church in America, will speak and show slides of the mission work in a country where Christianity involves only one per cent of the population, with much competition from other religions.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. J. Allen VerMilyea and Mrs. Martin Carlson, with others assisting.

Pinegrove PTA Cosmetics Demonstrated

The Pinegrove PTA held its first meeting of the year Tuesday evening, Sept. 21, with Mrs. Warren Bobeau welcoming old and new members and giving devotions. She also introduced the officers and chairmen for the year.

It was voted to make payment on the basketball backboards. The school path, along the old Warren-Jamestown road, was discussed. Anyone interested in helping with adult volunteer parent patrol, contact Kenneth Higgins or the school. The new budget report was given and Mrs. Donald Cable, chairman of the Fun Festival planned for Saturday, Sept. 25, at the school, gave her report.

Mrs. Lyle Porter's morning kindergarten class won the Home Room attendance award. A social hour followed the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Branstrom and Mrs. Knapp's second grade mothers.

The members decided to again collect for the United Fund. They will also sell tickets for What's New for the Holidays.

The hostess was Mrs. Carl Erik. Serving on the committee was Miss Mae Swanson and Mrs. Robert Jones.

Mrs. Lyle Porter's morning kindergarten class won the Home Room attendance award. A social hour followed the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Branstrom and Mrs. Knapp's second grade mothers.

GETTING SET FOR THE FAIR

The ladies of the Russell School PTA gathered together Thursday evening to make preparations for their annual Fun Fair to be held at the Russell Elementary School on Saturday, Sept. 25, from 1 p.m. until dark. They are shown here unpacking some of the gifts and toys which will be used for game prizes. Everyone is urged to come and join the fun! (Photo by Mansfield)

Breakfast Briefs

Sunday, September 26, is National Gold Star Mothers Sunday. Each year the president of the local chapter selects the church where the members attend services in a group. This Sunday they will worship at the 11 a.m. services of the First Lutheran Church, East and Third sts. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Any mother who has lost a son or daughter in the service, is a Gold Star Mother and is eligible to belong to the Warren County Chapter.

The Jackson Valley Country Club Ladies Golf League will have their closing dinner on Thursday, September 30. A social hour is scheduled for 6 p.m. with dinner to be served at 7 p.m. The annual business meeting will follow with election of new officers the main item on the agenda. Dinner Committee chairman is Mrs. Eileen Jewell, assisted by Mrs. Elvia Hendrickson, Mrs. Dora Gustafson, Mrs. Lois Westover, Mrs. Jean Howe and Mrs. Viola Walters. Reservations may be made through Monday by calling the club, 489-7802.

A Stuffed Pork Chop Dinner, also featuring mashed potatoes and gravy, peas, rolls, beverage, and dessert will be served tomorrow (Sunday) at St. Paul Center, Saybrook. Serving from 12 noon until 4 p.m., the dinner is sponsored jointly by the church societies of St. Anthony's Sheffield, and St. Clara's, Clarendon for the benefit of those churches. Because Religious Education Classes held at the Center will not be meeting on the last Sunday of each month, regular FIRST Sunday Dinners will now be known as the LAST Sunday Dinner of the month.

The YWCA Tuesday evening Featherweight Club will meet this coming Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. after summer vacation. New members are invited to join. A $4 'Y' membership fee is required along with an additional fee of 25 cents per week for the class. For further information, telephone 968-3344.

There were 21 1/2 tables in play at Woman's Club Bridge on Thursday, with an average of 10 First place winners with 13 were Mrs. George Sarvis and Mrs. Gaston Hamilton; second with 11, Mrs. Howard Johnson and Mrs. Winston Teague.

Lutheran Home To Celebrate Anniversary

Five years ago, a home for extended care in nursing the elderly became a reality in Kane, Pa. Today the Lutheran Home at Kane marks five years of full-capacity service to the elderly of the area with an Open House for visitors on Sunday, September 26, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The original plan for such a home was accepted by the Western Pennsylvania-West Virginia Synod of the Lutheran Church in America following a merger of various Lutheran bodies in 1962, and a former Kane mansion in that city was remodelled, with additional building added. The Home was one of the first in the area to be designed for extended care nursing for the elderly, and has had its 37-guest capacity filled since its opening in 1966.

John Mallerys To Speak At Calvary Baptist Church

The Sunday evening service at Calvary Baptist Church will feature Mr. and Mrs. John Mallery who have just recently returned from West Africa. John served as County Superintendent of Schools in Warren County for 14 years. In 1968 he resigned to accept a position as Principal of a secondary school in Sierra Leone, West Africa.

Mrs. Mallery joined her husband there in 1969. She had been teaching at the Lander Elementary School and while in Africa assisted in the work as a part-time teacher.

The Mallerys will tell about their work and use slide to depict the work of the missionaries. The time for the service is 7 p.m. Ron Zerbe will be the soloist.

Ten Suspensions Since Aug. 23

Ten Warren County motorists had their operators' licenses suspended or revoked for the period beginning August 23, according to the Bureau of Traffic Safety.

Four persons received one year suspensions for driving under the influence: Albert Fox, Columbus; Rachel Klakamp, Columbus; Priscilla L. Williams, 152 Poplar st., Youngsville and David H. Anthony, RD1, Grand Valley.

Other suspensions listed by the Bureau were: Ronald L. Blum, 22 Horton ave., Sheffield, speeding, 60 days; Michael Elslager, RD1, Youngsville, failure to stop at the scene of an accident, four months; Lynn D. Freeman, 604 Edgewood st., Warren, refusal to take in-toxication chemical test, six months; Charles M. Riley, 311 Pennsylvania ave. east, Warren, driving during suspension, one year; William A. Wallers, Clarendon, failure to assist at the scene of an accident, one year, and John Gadley, 508 Hacker st., Kane, financial responsibility, indefinite.

GRAND PRIZE WINNER

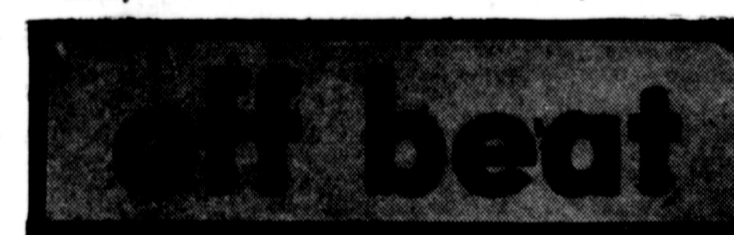

Miss Lynda Samol, right, of RD 2, Girard, Pa. receives the keys to the pickup truck which was the grand award at the 1971 Bear Lake Community Fair. Walter Newhouse, president of the fair, made the presentation. This was the largest fair ever held in Bear with over 10,000 attending.

Market Sags After Rally In Morning

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices closed slightly lower Friday after the market made an unsuccessful rally attempt. Trading was moderate. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, ahead nearly 6 points early in the session, fell 1.97 points to close at 889.31. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange, which had held a 2 to 1 lead over declines, wound up even with the losers.

Analysts said the rally was in response to President Nixon's remarks Thursday indicating that the second phase of his anti-inflationary program would not include profit controls. Uncertainty over the contents of the second phase had depressed prices in the previous sessions, they said. Some second thoughts as to whether Congress would go along with the president on profit controls may have triggered the subsequent downturn, according to analysts.

Big Board volume inched ahead to 13.47 million shares from 13.27 million shares Thursday.

State Senator Richard C. Frame has scheduled a joint meeting of the Legislative Task Force he has on ambulance service with a health dept. task force on emergency health services for Sept. 30. The two task forces, which have been at work for some months, hope to make a final report on emergency medical needs in Pennsylvania.

West Forest students participated in a fire drill Monday afternoon when a note left in room 10 was discovered. The note stated that a bomb would go off in the next 12 hours. State troopers and school administrators searched the building before allowing students to return to their classes.

Grand champion steer at Wednesday's 22nd annual Northwestern Pennsylvania Livestock Show and Sale at Wattsburg was a Charolais-Angus crossbreed owned by Mary Kuzma of the Columbus 4-H Club, Warren County. It was sold to her last fall by Mr. and Mrs. William McCullough of Sugar Creek Farm, Cochran. Mary won $100, which Bill promised her toward the purchase of another calf if the first would take the grand champion award at the show. The McCulloughs then turned around and bought the steer back, paying 51 cents a pound for the 1,010-pound animal. McCullough said it would probably wind up in his frozen food chest.

Jeffrey Smith, a recent graduate of the University of Southern Florida, will return to the south on Friday after spending some time in Warren County with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy McCloskey, 544 East Main street, Youngsville. It is five years since he was last here, and he noted one change in particular: the sign at the western Route 6 approach to Warren, which announced that 14,000 friendly people lived in the town, is no longer to be seen. He wonders why.

Both of the young man's parents are Warren natives. His mother is the McCloskey's daughter Lois. His father is Martin Smith. They live now near Tampa, Florida, where Martin Smith is head of the planning department for Hillsborough County.

RCA, up 1/4 at 37 on a volume of 13.27 million shares, led the Big Board's most-active list for the fourth time this week. Investor interest in the stock has been keen since company announced a week ago that it would quit producing computers.

General Motors was off 1/2 at 82 1/2 in active trading, despite the fact that the company's sales for the middle 10 days of September were sharply above a year earlier.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks dipped 0.11 to 54.26. The American Stock Exchange index rose .03 to 25.35. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped .23 to 98.15.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.6 at 325.3. Industrials were off .8, rails were off 2.2, and utilities were off .4.

Of the 1,087 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 419 advanced, and 368 declined. Amex volume declined to 2.9 million shares from 3.05 million shares Thursday.

When the one-year-old Milton S. Hershey Medical Center opens its pediatric floor Monday, a Warren woman will be more interested than most. In an Associated Press story appearing in Friday's Warren Times-Mirror and Observer, Miss Charlotte Passinger, the hospital's child activity specialist, told of her work at the institution. Miss Passinger is the granddaughter of Mrs. F.J. (Eva) Passinger of 6 Hertzell st., who served for many years with Children's Aid and Family Service here.

Charlotte's father, Charles Passinger, manages three theaters in State College, Pa. and her mother is the former Elizabeth Ann Johnson of Warren. In addition to being qualified in both child development and elementary education, Miss Passinger also specializes as a special education teacher.

Forest County's waterways patrolman came across a littering problem last week a little difficult to handle. Accustomed to apprehending fishermen and others who toss beer and pop cans along the streams and highways, Joseph Kopena was taken somewhat aback by the young lady he arrested for tossing disposable diapers along the roadway at the Tubbs Runs display ponds.

The Kane Kiwanis Autumn Music Festival Saturday, Oct. 2 at Kane Area Senior High School auditorium is expected to be one of the outstanding musical events of the year. Six male choruses representing Pennsylvania and Ohio will present a full evening's entertainment. The program provides the opening event of the annual Autumn Foliole Festival in Kane. Tickets are now on sale from any member of the Kane Kiwanis club or Kane Men's Chorus. It has been suggested that area residents purchase tickets early as a large sale is expected.

The Salvation Army New York Headquarters has announced that Brigadier Harry Poole, who recently completed a four year term of service on the Pennsylvania State Board of Parole, has been appointed the director of Social Welfare Services for Salvation Army's eastern territory. Poole is well known for his work at Western Pennsylvania State Penitentiary while serving in Pittsburgh before 1966.

Historic Economy Farm Now Being Developed Into Wildlife Habitat

By DON NEAL

The Economy Farm, located east of Tidioute in Watson township, and a star on the map of historical events in Warren County, has been rescued from oblivion. Not as a mecca for those who would seek out the lands once tilled by the members of the Economite sect, or the site of a unique social experiment, but to serve a far more practical purpose, perhaps.

For through the cooperation of the U.S. Forest Service and the Pennsylvania Game Commission, the abandoned fields have been converted from their previous state into approximately 700 acres of ideal wildlife habitat. Areas once lean in food and cover are now, or soon should be, offering an abundance of each.

Two hundred acres of the abandoned fields are to be managed intensively. Food and cover strips take up 60 acres, food and cover openings 30 acres, and a timber sale clearcut designed to provide a regenerative growth of trees and native shrubs covers another 110 acres.

In addition to the intensive management acres, the remaining 500 acres will be managed on a low intensive plan that will provide maturing forests for the production of mast from the hardwoods and winter cover in the larch and pine plantations.

The area was selected by representatives of the two agencies because of its readily adaptable features. Habitat components suitable to many forms of wildlife needed only minor alteration to produce ideal conditions for many game and non-game species.

These alterations were accomplished by pushing down stands of red pine and larch to provide a wealth of cover, planting hundreds of multi-floral rose bushes to provide winter food for birds of many species, the creation of brush piles as cover and escape areas for small game and the release of native shrubs, briars and trees.

Increased food and forage conditions were encouraged through the seeding of clover and lespedeza on the lengthy food strips and the planting of tartarian honeysuckle and autumn olive along the edges of these strips. Apple and crabapple trees, descendants of the original Economite orchards, were pruned and blueberry, grape and blackberry patches were released from strangling weed growth. And browse conditions favorable to deer were created through the clear cutting of semi-mature stands of marketable trees.

The water-holding ability of the hilltop lands was improved through the creation of several water holes, a provision beneficial to many forms of wildlife.

In addition, two parking areas for the convenience of hunters have been established in the central section of the area, and easily followed trails provide some seven miles of excellent hunting opportunities for the walking hunter.

Although the area, in its present state, is approximately 75 per cent complete in relation to the overall development plan, the fundamental part of the project is complete and functioning for the benefit of wildlife. Full development is expected within the next two years.

Of less concern to those who planned the project, but of extreme interest to the hunters who will hunt there, was the matter of all-weather accessibility. Such ease of "getting there" is one of the outstanding features of the Economy Farm development. Only 3½ miles northeast on Route 337 from Tidioute, then two miles east on the Limestone township road. Both roads providing easy travel even in the most inclement weather.

Maintenance of the area will be mostly under the supervision of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, with U.S. Forest Service personnel acting in an advisory capacity.

GOOD COVER

Jim Nicholson, foreman of the work crew, points with pride to the type of cover produced by pushed-over trees on the project, designed to protect and encourage wildlife.

ON THE COVER

Examining the grain production on a food strip, Duane Gross, land manager with the Pennsylvania Game Commission, and Gilbert Morris, wildlife specialist from the Sheffield Ranger Station of the Allegheny National Forest, discuss its value to both game and non-game species on a special development tract of the Economite Farm. FOOD AVAILABLE

Pruned apple trees will be producing more game food as Russ Hill, wildlife specialist with the forest service, points out to Duane Gross, land manager of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Commission has been progressing over the past several years. Below, game men stand knee deep in a cultivated plot, while brush piles along the edge provide escape cover.

Fruit Melange And A Melange Of Fruit

By Natalie Williams

First we'll give you a recipe for fruit melange — Sugar-Brandied Fruit Melange — and then we'll give you a melange of recipes for fruit. The word "melange" is really just a pretty French word for "mixture," but the mixture that follows is just about the most beautiful sauce in the world for ice cream or fancy desserts.

It begins with a bottle of fine cognac, the best your budget will permit, turned into a sterilized crock with grated rinds, whole spices, strawberries and sugar. Then you add other fruits as they're available, weighing the fruit carefully and adding equal amounts of sugar to the crock. Cover tightly, store in a cool place and keep your distance for three months.

First you sterilize a large earthenware crock by washing well and rinsing with boiling water. Pour 1 bottle quality cognac into crock and add the grated rinds of 1 large orange, 1 lemon, 1 lime, ¼ grapefruit plus 1 cinnamon stick, 1 whole nutmeg, 12 whole cloves, 6 whole allspice. Weigh 1 qt. ripe strawberries (free of any soft spots), washed and hulled, and add to cognac with an equal weight of sugar. Place a plate on top of the strawberries to hold them under the cognac. Cover the crock tightly and leave in a cool place for 1 week.

Then add, as they are available, sweet cherries, stemmed; ripe peaches, peeled and quartered, with pits; ripe pineapple, pared, cored and cut into cubes; blackberries and raspberries; seedless green grapes. Each time a new fruit is added, weigh it and add an equal weight of sugar to the crock. Keep fruit submerged in cognac syrup by weighting it down with the plate. When the last fruit is added, cover the crock very tightly and let it stand in a cool place for three months before using any of the fruit.

After the fruit mixture has fermented for 3 months, it can be packed in sterilized jars and sealed. Or simply keep in the crock in a cool place.

Well there's nothing like starting out the day with a hearty breakfast. If the family likes pancakes, surprise them some morning with Blueberry Ham Roll-Ups. As a matter of fact, they're a great idea for Sunday brunch, too.

For sauce, combine 1 can (15 oz.) blueberries, undrained, and 2 tsp. cornstarch in medium saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring lightly until mixture is slightly thickened. Add 1 tsp. lemon juice. Keep warm until ready to serve.

Place 1 cup pancake mix, ¼ tsp. allspice, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1 tbsp. melted or liquid shortening in bowl and stir lightly until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake pour about ¼ cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make 8 pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

To serve, place 1 thin slice heated boiled ham on each pancake, roll up. Top with warm blueberry sauce.

Fruit salad can be a marvelous light lunch or an unusually tempting appetizer. Pear Melon Salad is a perfect starter for a menu featuring ham, turkey, or a pork roast, and equally delightful served alone for the weight-watchers.

Core 3 medium fresh Bartlett pears and cut into eighths. Sprinkle with lemon juice to prevent browning. Toss with 1 cup cantaloupe balls, 1½ cups honeydew melon chunks, 1 cup fresh grapes. Chill. Serve with Honey Lemon Dressing or Sherry Dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Honey Lemon Dressing: Combine ¼ cup lemon juice, 1-3 cup honey, ½ cup salad oil, ½ tsp. salt, until well blended. Chill. At serving time float lemon slice in dressing.

Sherry Dressing: Combine ¼ cup sherry wine, ½ cup diet apricot or pineapple preserves, 1 tbsp. lemon juice, ¼ tsp. powdered ginger. Chill well.

Speaking of pears, you can use them for a novel topsy-turvy cake if there's no calorie counters around. Everyone knows about pineapple upside-down cake. Try Upside-Down Pear Spice Cake for a change. The mild flavor of the pears is a perfect complement to the spicy goodness of the cake.

Melt ¼ cup butter in a 13 x 9 x 2 inch baking pan; stir in 2-3 cup firmly packed light brown sugar. Dip 4 cups peeled sliced fresh pears in fresh lemon juice to prevent darkening. Arrange pears and 1-3 cup pecan halves in pan. Prepare 1 pkg. spice cake mix according to directions; stir in 1 cup currants. Pour over pears. Bake in preheated 350 oven 30 to 35 min. Cool in pan on wire rack 5 min. Loosen around edges; invert onto serving plate. Serve warm topped with whipped cream.

For special dinner desserts a continental touch can be achieved by simply serving a sauce of sliced bananas and blueberries flavored with orange liqueur over a custard-cheese mold. This particularly mild-flavored custard, so easy to make with a package of egg-custard mix, is also a perfect background for strawberries, raspberries, peaches or grapes.

Fromage Custard Mold with Fresh Fruit: Blend 1 pkg. (3 oz.) egg custard mix, 1½-cups milk and 2 tbsp. sugar in saucepan. Add 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, cut in cubes, and 1 tbsp. grated orange rind. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and blend with rotary beater until smooth. Pour into 3-cup mold or 6 individual molds. Chill until set. Combine 1 cup sliced bananas and blueberries (or 1 cup sliced summer fruits, any combination), 1 cup orange juice, 2 tsp. orange liqueur. Unmold custard into shallow serving bowl or dessert dishes. Spoon fruits in sauce over custard.

Looking for a spectacular but simple sparkle for that special dinner party? An easy and elegant solution is Cream of Avocado Soup.

Mix in a blender or mixer until smooth 2 avocados, peeled and seeded, 1 can (13 to 14½ oz.) evaporated milk, ½ tsp. celery salt, ½ tsp. garlic salt, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 2 cups milk, 1 cup chicken broth. Chill well for several hours. Serve garnished with watercress if available.

The soup can also be served warm if you prefer. Gently heat the blended ingredients but do not boil. Garnish with garlic croutons.

Or for another interesting switch, try Cabana Fruit Soup. This lovely pale pink soup is made with bananas, strawberries and wine. All you need to make it party perfect is a pretty serving dish such as individual ice-filled glass compote dishes. Top with a little sour cream or a banana slice and sprinkle with nutmeg.

Bring 6 bananas, peeled and cut into chunks, ½ cup sliced strawberries, 1 qt. water, 2 slices lemon (with peel), 1 cinnamon stick, and 2-3 cup sugar to boil; cover and simmer for 10 min. Puree and return to pan. Stir in 2 tbsp. cornstarch that has been dissolved in small amount of cold water. Simmer several minutes or until translucent. Add ½ cup sauterne wine and a few drops of red food coloring to tint a light pink; then chill.

With the holidays coming up — it won't be long now — let's do something different with ham. An evening buffet with succulent baked ham is a popular way to entertain; it adapts easily to a large or small group and is equally delicious served hot or cold. For a festive and flavorful accent, accompany it with a luscious sauce of spiced canned sweet cherries. The sparkling cherry sauce serves a double purpose; a portion is used to glaze the ham as it bakes and the remainder is chilled to serve with the ham.

Drain 1 can or jar (16 oz.) dark sweet cherries, reserving syrup. Combine cherry syrup in saucepan with 4 tsp. cornstarch, ½ cup sugar, 2 tbsp. white vinegar, 2 tbsp. water, 1-8 tsp. cinnamon, 1-8 tsp. allspice, 1-8 tsp. nutmeg, and cook, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Add ½ cup rose wine and cherries. Use part of sauce to glaze ham during baking. Serve remaining cherry sauce, warm or chilled, as accompaniment to ham.

To glaze, brush ham several times with a portion of the glaze during the last 30 minutes of baking time.

Flight Of The Monarchs

I watched a Monarch butterfly light momentarily on a zinnia in my garden and sip its sweet Nectar. This is one butterfly that I have no trouble identifying from a distance. You don't have to be a lepidopterist to recognize it. If you are partial to orange, you can't help but admire this handsome orange and black butterfly. If it weren't so common, its beauty would be more likely to be appreciated.

Most species of butterflies that I have observed in flight have one thing in common. They don't seem to know where they are going. Not so the Monarch. It is one of several species of butterflies that migrate great distances, like birds. And the Monarchs know exactly where they are going.

Most butterflies live only a few days after emerging from the chrysalis as winged creatures. But Monarchs may live to be nine months old. To survive for this length of time, they are forced to migrate south for the winter where flowers continue to bloom, for the adult Monarch butterfly subsists exclusively on nectar and water.

Only those Monarchs that reach maturity toward the end of the summer are able to fly south for the winter. The greatest distance on record that one of these made in its migration was 1,870 miles—from southern Ontario to the state of San Luis Potosi in Mexico. This particular butterfly was one of thousands that had been caught up north and marked with a tiny tag.

In the spring, the Monarchs make the long weary flight north. Like salmon fighting their way upstream to spawn, the only purpose of this northward migration is the preservation of the species. It heads north to lay its eggs on the underside of milkweed leaves, for the larvae that hatch out will eat only leaves of this plant. But in the butterfly stage, which develops about 35 days after the eggs have hatched and passed through the caterpillar and chrysalis stage, they are not at all choosy. They sup the nectar from a wide variety of flowering plants, including their favorite—the fragrant blossoms of the milkweed. An important aid to survival that the Monarch enjoys is its built-in resistance to attack by birds. Whether in the caterpillar or the butterfly stage, it is seldom eaten.

The only place in the United States that has enacted a law to protect a species of butterfly is Pacific Grove, California. Should you destroy Monarchs there you could land in jail for six months, unless you were able to pay a $500 fine in lieu of serving a jail term. In this town of 13,000 population, a parade is held each fall welcoming the Monarch butterflies which spend the winter there. They come from as far north as Canada, and descend upon the same grove of pine trees that generations of their forebears landed on in great swarms. How such a fragile creature as a butterfly can travel such great distances with such unerring accuracy is one of the unsolved mysteries of the fascinating world of nature.

Other species of migrating butterflies have aided travelers lost in the jungles. In north-eastern South America, the flight pattern of these migrations is from southwest to northeast, and tens of thousands of butterflies take this route. A lost man may be able to determine his bearings by observing the flight of these swarms of butterflies.

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

Old Timothy is starting to eat again. Tim is a smart "he cat" that's been living with our family for the past nine years. The cat's "starting to eat" is how we can tell that winter is coming. The amount consumed and the date he begins gorging himself determines the kind of winter we're going to have. And it kinda appears as if the cold is going to come early and be downright severe. Now you may think this isn't a very scientific method for predicting weather. But after watching this fellow for nearly a decade I can tell you this old guy has a better idea about the severeness of the coming winter than the editor of the Farmers Almanac.

This cat in early spring starts dieting and spends the summer as a long, lean glob of hair with four legs and a head. He's cooler this way, and I think quite a bit faster when it comes to frightening his summertime mice. So from April to the middle of September he eats as if he was a lady on a diet at a cocktail party. Just a nibble now and then on a tooth pick is plenty, thank you.

But comes September he changes his habits and starts eating like Henry the Eighth. In about four weeks he adds five pounds or so to his frame, and takes on the appearance of a young market steer.

Now this year he started about a week or ten days early which of course means that we can expect cold weather sooner than usual. Add to this the fact that he is constantly growling for more even at midnight, and it's easy to tell that the temperatures are going to be below average.

You may question the validity of this observation. However, by using carefully controlled biological and physical stress factors this evidence should be accepted without doubt on the part of my friends and neighbors. It's true I haven't investigated any suspect-pathogen interactions, nor have I measured carbohydrates and enzyme production. But accumulated evidence indicates that the weather apparently depends on the alteration by certain environmental stresses of the proneness of the cat to fat!

I've been thinking about doing some graduate work on this subject. How far I go depends entirely on the approval of a Federal Grant which I may apply for under number 47.098 "Mathematical and Physical Sciences Research Project Support." The matching requirements are quite liberal on this program. I'll furnish the cat or 10 per cent of the cost of the total project. If everything works out as planned I can get both operating costs and participant support. Operating costs may include: Administrative and instructional staff, secretarial and clerical personnel, fringe benefits, office supplies, laboratory and instructional materials, field trips and an allowance for indirect costs.

There is one limitation however, which I'm attempting to get waived. Funds may not be used for equipment purchase or rent. I was planning to rent the box, which our cat and dog share as sleeping quarters, to the government as my 10 per cent of the proposed cost.

Just so there is something of some value in this column I'll give you the dates of the first fall frost in Warren County over the period 1925 to 1964. The earliest date was September 14, the median date over this period was October 5, and the latest was October 30. In this same period of time the frost free season was from 106 days to 143 days in length. The dates for the last spring frost: May 30th for the latest and May 15th the median. In some parts of Southeastern Pennsylvania the growing season averages 180 days. This makes quite some difference on crop yields.

One final thing for today. The folks from Penn State's Continuing Education were in the office this morning asking me to remind Warren County people that it's not too late to sign up for the classes being conducted at the Warren Area Senior High School. Classes begin next Monday at 7 p.m. but you may still enroll. Give Angelo DiMino a call, 723-8588.

DATELINE: HARRISBURG

Why No Expense Boost

By Richard R. Haratine

WHY NO EXPENSE BOOST—The $3600 expense increase for legislators became law on June 16, the day it was signed by the Governor. But the boost was effectively negated, by the Legislature itself, when it refused to balance the State budget by June 30.

Stopgap appropriations which passed August 6 retained spending levels at the rate of the preceding fiscal year and prevented funding of any programs "not in existence during fiscal 1970-71." Thus, the lawmakers had countermanded their own law under terms of the August 16 price freeze.

At $300 per month for 252 legislators (there is one vacancy), five months savings to the State amount to a $378,000 drop from a fiscal bucket already shot full of holes.

LOOK WHO'S GOING TO STRAIGHTEN THINGS OUT—Insurance Commissioner Dennberg's new 15-member "advisory" council includes at least two "experts" who have never bought, or paid for, any kind of insurance policy. It includes only one person who is a major purchaser of insurance!

TAKE OVER—Commonwealth Secretary Tucker is telling audiences in the boondocks that if there are student takeovers in some college towns—as a result of her order to register students who live in college dormitories—then "that's the American way." Some areas where resistance to registration has been encountered, she argues (without explanation), "have benefitted from increased Federal and State aid when the municipalities were upgraded after students were considered part of the population."

POP GETS RELIEF—A little noted decision by the State Supreme Court last week says that a father is not obligated to put his married son through medical school. The case involved a Washington County physician, separated from his wife and paying her $100 a week and college expenses for his son.

He paid $5,000, but refused to pay further college expenses when his son married and established his home in West Virginia during the school year 1968-69.

"Here," says the opinion of Judge Harold Watkins in the 5-2 court decision, "we must determine not the support of a minor child in college, but the support of a married adult, 24 years of age, who has established his residence with his wife in West Virginia."

"In other words, we must determine not whether it is a good thing for a father who can afford to pay for the education of this adult son, but whether under the support law of Pennsylvania it is a legal obligation to support an adult emancipated son," says the judge.

"Ordinarily, a child is emancipated at the age of 21 even though he continues to live with his parents. Only by judicial legislation have emancipated adults been awarded support," he says.

"Courts," he notes, "are beginning to tighten up their liberal approach in requiring a father to support his children through college and graduate school."

Judge Watkins adds that "grants and scholarships are available to worthy and ambitious students seeking higher education regardless of family financial status."

SATURDAY

Gloria poses nude for an artist friend of Mike's on All In The Family at 8:00 p.m. on Chs. 4, 10 and 35. Archie and Mike both have one of the pictures, and they both have decidedly different reactions.

TV repair rackets are the topic of "The Repairman Cheateh" on Funny Face at 8:30 p.m. on Chs. 4, 10 and 35. Bernie Kopell stars as a repairman who takes Sandy's set to the shop and Sandy to the cleaners.

Lloyd Bridges, Janet Leigh and Leif Erickson star in "The Deadly Dream" on the ABC Movie of the Weekend on Ch. 7 at 8:30 p.m. The man involved is a brilliant scientist, who has a living nightmare which centers on a mysterious tribunal determined to execute him for an unexplained crime.

World War II is the subject of "The Secret War of Harry Frigg" on NBC Saturday Night at the Movies at 9:00 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6 and 12. Paul Newman stars as escape artist Frigg, who parachutes into occupied Italy on a mission. He is to masquerade as a general and spring five Allied officers who are jailed in a luxurious country villa.

William Shatner is the guest star in "Encore," to be presented on Mission Impossible at 10:00 p.m. on Chs. 4, 10 and 35. The case is an unsolved murder of the 1930's: the solution involves an elaborate re-enactment of the crime.

SUNDAY

A Jacques Cousteau Special entitled "The Unsinkable Sea Otter," will be presented at 7:00 p.m. on Ch. 7. Cousteau travels to Monterey, Calif. and the Aleutian Islands to look at this gentle and intelligent animal which was once nearly wiped out by fur hunters. The sea otter is staging a comeback, but there are threats of poachers and pollution.

"The Last Job" stars John McIntire as Doc Lacy, a left-over gangster from the Dillinger era on The F.B.I. on Ch. 7 at 8:00 p.m. Tormented by his past failures, Lacy escapes from prison and tries to rob a payroll in one last chance at success.

Hoss Cartwright, after his trial testimony, sends a convicted robber to prison on Bonanza at 9:00 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6 and 12. When her husband is sent away, alcoholic Jill shoves her youngster off on Hoss, whom she blames for her predicament.

Dean Martin and Stella Stevens star in "The Silencers," on The ABC Sunday Night Movie on Ch. 7 at 9:00 p.m. This story is about an oriental plot to eliminate a U.S. missile base, with lots of girls and gadgets to distract the easy-going investigator (Martin).

The season's first "Lawyers" segment on The Bold Ones is an exciting story concerning the invasion of privacy at 10:00 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6 and 12. A former executive retaliates when his career and marriage fail because of unethical action on the part of a corporation president.

MONDAY

This week's episode of Gumsmoke at 8:00 p.m. on Chs.

4, 10 and 35 begins a two-part story, which was filmed in southern Utah and features high adventure and spectacular scenery. It begins as Matt's search for an outlaw involves him with a motherless boy and a wagonload of back-biting saloon women.

Doris Day and Robert Morse star in "Where Were You When the Lights Went Out?" a comedy to be presented on NBC Monday Night at the Movies on Chs. 2, 6 and 12 at 9:00 p.m. In the story, set against the backdrop of the power failure of 1965, a Broadway star arrives at her apartment to find her husband two-timing her with a pretty magazine writer.

TUESDAY

Lucille Ball, Arte Johnson, Anne Murray and the rock group Bread will be special guests on The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour on Chs. 10 and 35 at 7:30 p.m. Lucy and Arte team up for Arte's famous park bench routine and for a Ziegfeld Follies number.

The murder of a prostitute forces Father Sarge Cavanaugh into a painful investigation on Sarge at 8:30 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6 and 12. Clues indicate that the killer may be the fiancée of the priest's long-time friend.

WEDNESDAY

A body pops out of a barrel on the McMillan's moving day and then disappears in "Murder by the Barrel," the premiere episode of the McMillan & Wife segments of NBC Mystery Movie at 8:30 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6 and 12. The comedy-mystery begins when Sally (Susan Saint James) opens a barrel searching for her china and finds a body instead.

A Peanuts Special, "It Was a Short Summer," Charlie

Brown," will be presented at 8:30 p.m. on Chs. 4 and 10. Charlie Brown recalls how he and his friends spent a frustrating summer at camp trying to beat the girls in at least one event.

THURSDAY

Raymond Burr, soul star Stevie Wonder and Ruth Gordon guest-star this week on The Flip Wilson Show at 8:00 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6 and 12. According to TV Guide, the best sketch of the evening is when Miss Gordon plays an unsuccessful actor receiving encouragement from a short-order cook (Flip).

The mission this week on Bearcats! is to lend assistance to a Mexican revolution. Hank Brackett (Rod Taylor) and Johnny Reach (Dennis Cole) spend their time as trouble-shooters, while driving around in a Stutz Bearcat. The program is seen weekly on Chs. 4, 10 and 35 at 8:00 p.m.

FRIDAY

Big Nick is waltzing around like a ballerina on The Chicago Teddy Bears at 8:00 p.m. on Chs. 4, 10 and 35. This is all part of Linc's zany plan to avoid paying protection money to the Purple Gang.

PERSUADERS

Roger Moore, left, and Tony Curtis become involved with two women and a murder on the ABC-TV program of "The Persuaders" Saturday at 10 p.m.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen (c) 1971 By The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DISSOLVING KIDNEY STONES

Is it possible to dissolve urinary stones? The answer depends on their chemical composition. Uric acid stones, for example, develop mainly in persons with gout. The victim has too much uric acid in his blood and tissues and the excess is eliminated through the kidneys.

Additional amounts of uric acid are excreted when antigout remedies are taken. When the crystals become too highly concentrated in the urine, they are likely to stick together and form a stone. Urinary acidity also plays a role. Stone formation is avoided by drinking plenty of fluids (four quarts a day) and taking an alkali, such as a citric acid sodium citrate mixture (Polycitra). For this reason every gout sufferer should drink ample fluids.

Several years ago allopurinol was introduced for the treatment of gout. It prevents the formation of uric acid and also tends to dissolve the urate crystals in the tissues and the uric acid stones in the kidneys.

Cystine stones develop in 25 per cent of those with cystinuria, an hereditary disorder. The urine of these individuals contains 10 to 50 times as much of the chemical, cystine, as does normal urine. Those with cystinuria should drink large amounts of fluid and take alkalis. Cystine (and also uric acid) stone formers will cease to make stones by following this procedure. In addition, the existing stones will not increase in size and those present often dissolve.

Large cystine stones also respond to penicillamine. This product may have some deleterious effects and consequently is used only for short periods of time.

At present, there is no way to dissolve calcium oxalate and phosphate stones. This is unfortunate because they are the most common urinary calculi. Prevention involves treating the cause, drinking plenty of water and the use of thiazide diuretics and phosphate salts. Stones associated with urinary infections are held in abeyance with antiseptics and antibiotics.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

HEART SYMPTOMS

R.D. writes: I'm weak and short of breath and the diagnosis is cardiac embarrassment. Does this mean heart trouble?

REPLY

Possibly, in that these symptoms develop when the heart fails to function properly. But weakness and shortness of breath also develop in severe anemia, malnutrition, nervousness and fatigue from too much work or too little sleep.

"Ever had a Newspaper Route?"

When a young man applies for a job he really wants—a job with "a future"—he is very apt to be asked, "Have you ever had a newspaper route?" His answer to that question may well decide whether or not he'll get the job.

Why? Because more and more employers are realizing that former newspaperboys already have a solid business background.

They've bought newspapers at wholesale—sold them at retail—and operated a business of their own. They've already learned that the only way to conduct a successful business is to give service . . . to keep present customers satisfied . . . and to get new customers.

Many of today's executives were yesterday's newspaperboys. They know that a newspaper route is the one part-time job open to a Young American that teaches initiative, the value of money and the importance of getting along with people.

Yes sir . . . there's no doubt about it. For jobs with "a future", employers prefer former newspaperboys.

If you have a son that you think might be interested in a newspaper route, why not write or phone us.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1971

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Yesterday's fine influences, now diminishing, suggest building up double strength in certain areas. Tighten up your schedule, eliminate flaws, loopholes for errors.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Mixed planetary influences. You may be saddled with some additional responsibilities. Aim to handle things astutely and in due turn, and you will work them out.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—One minute matters may seem to be fine, running smoothly, the next they may be "out of hand." So it is essential that YOU remain poised, dignified and alert.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Undertake chores promptly, but not with anxiety. Being disorganized could mean confusion later. Excellent aspects stimulate clever management and initiative.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—You may run into some snags, obstacles, but you can handle them—and ably. Pep up an old idea, keep your vision broad.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Day awaits YOUR move. Study situations first. The wrong turn could cause a setback, but the right one could put you well ahead of schedule—with extra bonuses.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Business, general work interests favored, but there will be strain, mistakes, disagreements to forestall. Stress your gift for maintaining harmony.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—By interpreting situations in your own way, you may miss intended meanings. Do not hesitate to consult others for better information.

SAGITTARIUS (November 24 to December 23)—Look over day's schedule. What should you delete to make it a better day? What inject to increase its possibilities? Decide thoughtfully.

CAPRICORN (December 24 to January 20)—Saturn's position suggests the revival of old projects if still feasible, and the launching of new ones that could better your course. Choose wisely.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—While some influences are good, you are nevertheless cautioned against misconstruing, overstressing and getting ahead of yourself in certain areas. Care!

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Work to reconcile conflicting views and to get your important projects under way. Planet Neptune stimulates perception, increased mental productivity.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a keen and analytical mind; are a zealous scholar and extremely artistic in your leanings. You apply your learning astutely and would make an excellent teacher or writer. You have many other careers open to you, however, but prefer either intellectual or creative pursuits.

Drug laws abroad:

If you're touring a foreign country this summer, get set for some hard news.

No matter which way you go, you'll run smack into drug laws that are a whole lot tougher than ours.

You may have heard differently. You may have heard possession and sale of drugs overseas or south of our own border is okay. Or at least tolerated. That's a lie. Drugs are illegal. The same as here. And that's the truth.

Only one thing is different. The penalties are stiffer. In Lebanon, for instance, possession gets you 3 to 5 years in a mental hospital. That's the law. And there's no way around their law.

Drug arrests of Americans overseas have jumped 70% since last year. And nobody can help. Not friends. Or family. Or the smartest lawyer in town. Not the United States government.

That's why there are over 700 American citizens doing time on drug charges in foreign jails.

Those are the facts. And so are these: the drug laws and penalties of 15 foreign countries.

Which one will you be visiting?

France. Possession, varies, but less than for trafficking. Minimum of 3 to 4 months pre-trial confinement. Trafficking, 1 to 5 years.
U.S. Embassy:
19, Rue de Franqueville
Paris, France

Germany. Possession, 3 years. Law may be changed this summer demanding increased penalty.
U.S. Embassy:
Nehlener Avenue
53 Bonn-Bad Godeberg
Bonn, Germany
Tel. 02229-1955

Mexico. Possession, 2 to 9 years plus fine. Trafficking, 3 to 10 years plus fine. Illegal import or export of drugs, 6 to 15 years plus fine. Persons arrested on drug charges can expect a minimum of 6 to 12 months pre-trial confinement.
U.S. Embassy:
Cor. Danubio and Paseodelareforma
305 Colonia Cuauhtemorz
Mexico City, Mexico
Tel. 511-7991

Spain. Penalty depends on quantity of drugs involved. Less than 500 grams, fine and release on bail until trial. More than 500 grams, heavy fine plus minimum of 6 years in jail.

Rev. Norman A. Smith
St. Joseph Church

Are we witnessing the birth of a new kind of Christianity? No doubt we are. Humanity is in the process of evolution, of change. Man's discoveries astonish even man. He has made himself master of nuclear energy and, like every other conquest of a form of energy, this victory signals a veritable leap forward in man's domination over nature. Now electronic computers give man answers that it would otherwise take years, or a lifetime, to calculate. These machines, more efficient than the combined effort of thousands of human brains, control—and will control more and more as time goes on—the progress of man and the world. Man is beginning to explore the universe itself as a prelude to taking possession of it. His power over life is growing, and the time will come when, having reached its very source, he will be able to control it, protect it, and prolong it more and more.

Yet, in the final analysis, man today, even less than yesterday, can truly be man only if he is aware of humanity. Men, wherever they may be, can no longer ignore other men. Everywhere, regardless of social class, nation, and race, men are growing; everywhere they are conscious of their human dignity; they are shaking off the chains of servitude; they are reaching up to, and demanding, total development. Nothing, no one, can prevent this radical transformation of the world. The striving of the peoples of the world, their battles, the blood that they shed throughout the world for their freedom, is a tidal wave on the ocean of humanity; it is an immense and sorrowful sigh from a body which only yesterday had not been fully born but which today, in all its members, demands that it be allowed to live in the full light of day.

The man who lives, and will live, in this new world will have a life very different from that of his predecessors—even his immediate predecessors. And the Christian of today, who belongs to this mutating race of humans and who, with humanity, explores these new paths, will not be able to live his Christianity except within the framework of these new developments. The grace of Christ must inevitably lead him to a new form of contemplation, to new prayers, to new commitments; that is, to a new form of the Christian life. Today's Christian will not live as did yesterday's Christian. He cannot, and he does not wish to. He must not.

The Christian has need of more than light to find his way. He needs a witness to travel with him and guide him. The Holy Spirit, who has raised up saints for every age, also raises up everyday saints; and these men are visible signs of Jesus' love for his people. It is their way of living Christ daily, today, that, little by little, initiates us into a spirituality for the men of our time.

Attica: Prisoner Perspective

By William F. Buckley, Jr.

I remarked recently on the affair at Attica, and have received a letter of remonstrance from my friend Edgar Smith, who resides in the Death House of the State Penitentiary at Trenton, New Jersey, in punishment for a crime which, in my judgment and that of others, he did not in fact commit—which is not to say he was railroaded, merely that he was enmeshed by circumstantial evidence. All of which is by way of qualifying Mr. Smith, who has spent fifteen years in solitary confinement, to speak about prison affairs.

He says a great deal by way of justifying the specific demands of the Attican prisoners, concerning which never mind for the moment. But hark to his comments on the revolutionary point. "Gee whiz! (Smith loves a tushery). Have you just discovered that prison inmates are politicized? Is that really a surprise? They don't need to become politicized IN prison. Most bring their politics and ideology in with them. You may not believe it, but black men don't have to read RIGHT ON! or THE MILITANT to know they are low men on the totem pole. . . I will drop the subject with just this one thought for you to contemplate: I absolutely believe that when Attica is put in perspective, when it is looked back on two or three or five years from now, it will be seen as a minor opening skirmish, and that we will be wishing we could have a prison riot in which only forty or forty-one would be killed. Why? Because the result of Attica will be merely more talk about prison reform. Until the inmates force reform, there will be no reform. Believe it."

The view is both pessimistic, cynical, and a little bit loosely-knit. Still, one day later a front-page story in the New York Times, by remarkable coincidence, tells of the fears of analysts that the seventies will bring disorders on a large scale. The executive director of President Johnson's Committee on the Causes and Prevention of Violence has kept his finger on the indices and says that if present trends continue, "I think we are going to make Belfast look like nothing in another decade."

By ironic masterstroke, the very same issue of the New York Times has editorialist Tom Wicker saying that American hypocrisy is to blame for it all. He cites the "Straw-Man Strategy" as follows: "After ghetto disturbances in Newark and Cleveland, officials reported the presence of 'snipers' firing at the police and National Guardsmen. Later, it was found that there were none." So the Commission's directors says that terrorism is increasing, and Mr. Wicker says that that terrorism which has been alleged was fictitious.

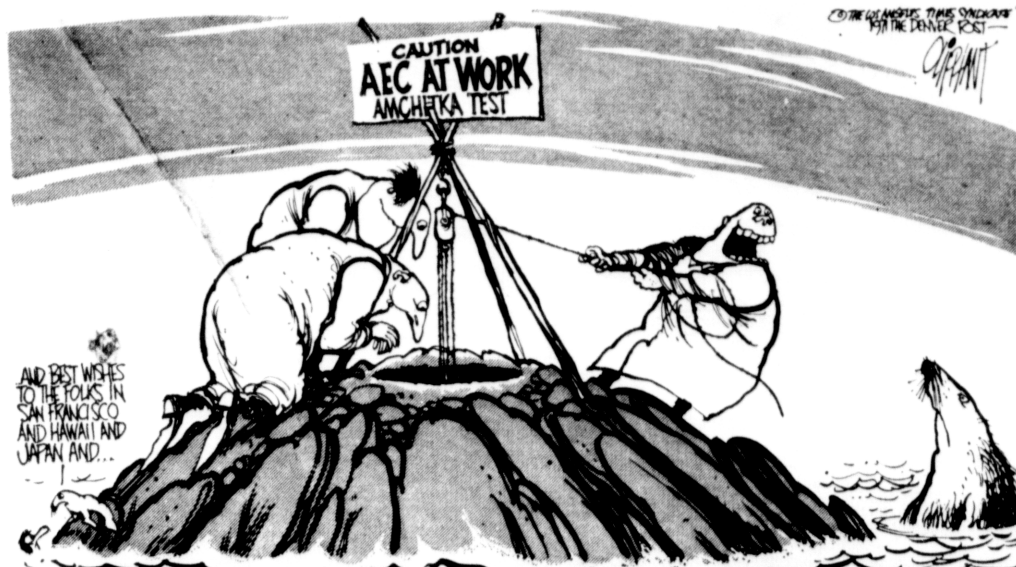

Then the Times quotes an upcoming report by a commission authorized to update the Harris-Lindsay-Kerner report of a few years ago. "Our basic finding," the commission's draft now reads, "is that, despite the Kerner report's widely accepted findings that one major cause of the ghetto rebellions of 1960's was the shameful condition of life in the cities, most of the changes in those conditions since 1968 have been for the worse."

Add now the report of a chaplain at Attica, Father James P. Collins, the past president of the American Correctional Chaplains Association, a national organization of chaplains of three faiths.

Father Collins called, in Attica, for "a maximum security institution for about 150 hard-core militant, Marxist revolutionaries. 'Until this is done, you're going to have more' than what you had at Attica," he said. As a veteran prison chaplain, I predict it."

Ergo? a) One expert says most of the prisoners who come in are already politicized. b) Another expert says they're not, the ideologists are a small and isolateable minority. c) One expert says that reforms are necessary in order to prevent violence and disruption. d) Another expert says that violence and disruption appear to be uncorrelated to the need for reform, as witness that things are worse now than they were in 1968, but certain kinds of violence have diminished.

Leaving? Confusion. The prisons should be reformed because they should be reformed, not because the reformation will bring a tranquilized prison population. Meanwhile a study should be made of the extent to which ideology has been igniting tinder boxes. It isn't obvious what then to do—perhaps isolation of the bombthrowers isn't enough, but it remains to be shown that their isolation is less than a prudent first step.

'OK, THEN — IF IT DOES CAUSE DAMAGE TO WILDLIFE, MASSIVE EARTHQUAKES AND DESTRUCTIVE TIDAL WAVES, WE PROMISE NOT TO HOLD TESTS HERE AGAIN!'

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND Highway Lobby Squads To Smear Environmentalists

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON—The highway lobby is dispatching "truth squads" to conduct what it describes as a "name-calling" campaign against the environmentalists.

The lobby will use a false front, ironically, to spread its version of the "truth." A phony "Speakers' Bureau" will send out highway spokesmen, disguised as legitimate lecturers, to attack the ecology movement.

Their speeches will be carefully written for them by the lobby. Its chief propagandist, John Gibbons, estimated in a confidential memo that "at least half a dozen 'different' speeches" would have to be written.

These canned speeches are supposed to provide a "hard-hitting, name-calling refutation of the current highway myths." The reason for naming adversaries, Gibbons explained, is to attract attention. "Only this invitation to controversy," he wrote, "can be expected to get the attention of the media which is desired."

The "truth squads" will be organized by the Highway Users Federation, a pressure group financed by the road builders, auto makers, oil firms, insurance companies and other highway interests.

These pave-for-pay boys, known irreverently around Washington as the "road gang," want to build more highways, without too much regard for the scenery that lies in their paths.

HIGHWAY OFFENSIVE

Owen Allen, the federation's field service chief, urged his regional representatives in a Sept. 10 memo to "line up as many speaking engagements and media appearances as possible" for the truth squads.

Seventeen highway lobbyists are ready to hit the road as truth-squad speakers. They will concentrate on the cities where conservationists have been most effective at stopping the encroachment of highways and freeways.

Among the cities the truth squads expect to hit are Atlanta, Chicago, Miami, New York City, Philadelphia and San Francisco.

The campaign was outlined by Gibbons in a series of memos intended for the eyes only of the highwaymen.

"Forces are building up," he wrote on Aug. 2, "both inside the Federation and outside, which demand we do something big and now to counteract the constant bombardment of highway critics."

He proposed "a massive 'truth squad operation,'" which not only would send out speakers but would seek radio-television interviews "on a big scale." Press handouts would be issued, too, to discredit the ecology movement.

In a later Aug. 30 memo, he suggested that the highway lobbyists should direct their name calling against environmentalists who talk about "air pollution; land use; destroying urban life; the evil highway lobby; housing dislocation; and assorted ecological (subjects) involving parks, wildlife, natural resources, etc."

Footnote: We spoke to Gibbons who said only that the language in his memos was "preliminary." He refused to tell us how much the highway lobby is spending on the truth-squad campaign.

HARLAN'S HEALTH

Because of failing health, Justice John Harlan may follow his old antagonist, Hugo Black, into retirement.

Sources inside George Washington University Hospital tell us that Harlan's X-rays, sadly, show "lytic lesion of the spine." This could indicate a serious case of cancer, they say.

Dr. George A. Kelsner, Jr., the jurist's doctor, refused comment. "This is privileged information, and I can't give it to you at this time," he said.

For three decades, Black and Harlan have led opposing factions on the Supreme Court. Black has always interpreted the Constitution literally. Harlan has argued that constitutional controversies, if they can't be avoided, should be decided by carefully weighing the interests involved.

Liberal friends, already dismayed over Black's retirement, have sent urgent appeals to Harlan to hang on to his seat until the 1972 election is decided. They fear that if President Nixon is given another vacancy to fill, a changed, hard-line Supreme Court will ride roughshod over individual rights and press freedoms.

The President, in private, has made no secret of his eagerness to recast the court. He blames the court's liberal decisions for the permissiveness which, he feels, has stimulated crime and rioting in the U.S.

Footnote: Justice Black's retirement came as a complete surprise to his colleagues on the court. He made the decision without consulting any of them. His secretary called at the office of each one with a sealed envelope, marked that it should be "opened only by the Jurist." The envelope contained his resignation notice.
